The Notice of the Control of the Con

structs. Some have, no doubt, regarded this idea as purely fanciful, but greater men are now indorsing it. Speaking of numpkin pie in an article in the Independent, E. P. Powell, one of the greatest authorities in matters of this kind, says: "But you must find the right woman to mix and cook it-that is, the pie. It is like ginger cookies, not too much ginger; not too little, and the same with the sugar; and after that if you stir the mixture just once too many times you spoil the cockies. Nobody can tell why, only it is so. But the pumpkin pie must have a bracing charge of ginger, and sugar enough to be really sweet in the raw; and as We have never known stinginess to work well with pumpkins."

It is not the pumpkin, or the sugar, or the milk that make the pie-it is the woman, says the Ohio State Journal. And the more poetry she has in her soul the more she puts into the pie. We forget this. We think the musician his into his scaring strains, but when it comes to the cook, she is potatoes. That's sacrilege. Anybody can tell whether a woman puts a to keep on trying. smile or a growl into a pie. And everybody can tell immediately if it is some fellow down in a cellar making a pie for ten cents.

World Would Be Happier and Better If Approbation Were More Freely

It is often told that Engene Field one day wandered into a basement restaurant, sat down at a table, put his chin in his hands and gazed moodily into space, relates the Youth's Companion. A waiter came up to him, and after the manner of his kind enumerated the long list of dishes that were ready to be served.

want is some sliced oranges and a few kind words."

is almost tragic to think how much happier and better this struggling world would become if kind words were more often heard. We all, every day, come in contact with those who are in Eugene Field's state of mind. They are in our own homes; mothers and fathers and children. They are behind counters of stores; they are in kitchens; they are everywhere, and their name is legion. A word of apjust nothing but corn, molasses and preciation would brighten the whole When Wagner Searched for Pawnshop.

Wagner's worst experience of poverty was during his sojourn in Paris in 1840, when he had to pawn all that he and his wife possessed of any value. "I looked up the French equivalent for a pawnshop," he relates in his autobiography, "as I was too shy to make inquiries. The only word I could find in my little dic-tionary was 'Lombard.' On the map having a quiet, orderly and entirely of Paris I found a very small thoroughfare called 'Rue des Lombards,' and thither I went, only to find the expedition fruitless. Often, on reading the inscription 'Mont de Piete' I observing the definess with which the drivers of motor vehicles disregard the traffic ordinances, and so forth, interspersed by resting now and then at my nephew's comfortable residence. However, my neighbors at home, many

There is a reason why the larger per cent of Cabinet Stationary used by Kansas City's "400" is turned from the Arthur W. Harris Printing Establishment. First their workmanship in this class of service is unexcelled by any of the larger and best equipped printing establishments in this city, since they all but make a specialty of this class of work. Second, while their prices are not always the lowest, they are always the fairest. They have "delivered" with accuracy and despatch to over 80 per cent of the classy weddings and receptions during the past year and now when a function of class is amnounced its a ten-to-one shot that Harris will handle the job.
